Associates, LLC,

vs.

ENCHANTE ACCESSORIES, INC. and EZRA
ERANI,

Defendants.

Adv. Pro. No. _____

ADVERSARY COMPLAINT BY CHARLES A. STANZIALE, JR., AGAINST DEFENDANTS ENCHANTE ACCESSORIES, INC. AND EZRA ERANI

Plaintiff Charles A. Stanziale, Jr., as Trustee of Solomon Dwek and SEM Realty Associates, LLC, by and through his counsel, McCarter & English, LLP, by way of Complaint against defendants Enchante Accessories, Inc. and Ezra Erani (collectively, the “Ponzi Participant”), hereby alleges:

PARTIES

1. Plaintiff Charles A. Stanziale, Jr. (“Stanziale” or the “Trustee”), is the Court approved Chapter 11 trustee of, among others, debtors Solomon Dwek (“Dwek”) and SEM Realty Associates, LLC (“SEM”).

2. Defendant Ezra Erani, on information and belief, resides at 801 Avenue 1, Brooklyn, New York 11230. Defendant Enchante Accessories, Inc., on information and belief, is a corporation with a principal place of business at 4 East 34th Street, New York, New York 10016. The Ponzi Participant invested funds and obtained transfers from SEM that are voidable, as set forth more fully below.

3. This Court has jurisdiction over this adversary proceeding pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1334 and Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 7001(1), (2), (7) and (9). This is a core proceeding pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 157(b)(2)(A), (E), (F), (H), & (O).

4. Venue is proper in this Court pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1409.

I. BACKGROUND

A. Case Filings and Appointment of Trustee

5. On February 9, 2007, several creditors of Dwek filed an involuntary petition for relief (Case No. 07-11757 KCF) (the “Dwek Bankruptcy”) under Chapter 7 of title 11 of the United States Bankruptcy Code (“Bankruptcy Code” or “Code”) in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the District of New Jersey (the “Bankruptcy Court”).

6. On February 13, 2007, SEM filed a voluntary petition for relief under Chapter 11 of the Code in the Bankruptcy Court (Case No. 07-11976 KCF) (the “SEM Bankruptcy”).

7. At all times relevant, Dwek managed and controlled SEM.

8. On February 22, 2007, on motion by Dwek, the Dwek Bankruptcy was converted to a case under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code.

9. On February 22, 2007, the SEM Bankruptcy was administratively consolidated with the Dwek Bankruptcy.

10. On March 2, 2007, the Bankruptcy Court entered an Order approving the appointment of Stanziale as the Trustee in, among others, the Dwek Bankruptcy and the SEM Bankruptcy.

B. The Ponzi Scheme

11. At all times relevant, Dwek engaged in a course of conduct wherein he received investment funds from numerous individuals and entities (“Investors”) with a promise of a guaranteed return in a specified period of time.

12. At all times relevant, Dwek also obtained unsecured loans from at least one individual banking professional and several financial institutions (“Unsecured Lenders”) based on Dwek's representations that Dwek was going to utilize the proceeds to, among other things, purchase real estate.

13. At all times relevant, Dwek also obtained personal loans from financial institutions and other individuals and entities ("Wrap Mortgagees") that were secured by second, third, or fourth mortgages on properties owned by limited liability companies in which Dwek was a sole member or owned less than all membership interests.

14. At all times relevant, Dwek represented to the Wrap Mortgagees that the proceeds from the loans would be used to, among other things, purchase real properties.

15. At all times relevant, on numerous instances, Dwek misrepresented to Investors, Unsecured Lenders and Wrap Mortgagees that Dwek had secured contracts to purchase certain real properties at a set price and had simultaneously secured contracts to sell those same properties to a fictitious third party at a set price.

16. In other instances, Investors, Unsecured Lenders and Wrap Mortgagees were not informed which properties were being acquired or maintained with the funds, or the source of the funds used to repay Investors, the Unsecured Lenders or the Wrap Mortgagees.

17. Virtually all of the funds received from Investors, Unsecured Lenders and Wrap Mortgagees were commingled in the SEM Account and were not devoted to a specific investment or property.

18. Dwek utilized a portion of the proceeds that he received from Investors, Unsecured Lenders and Wrap Mortgagees to purchase real estate, to donate to charitable religious organizations, to improve real estate, or to fund operating shortfalls on properties (e.g., properties that did not generate sufficient income to cover carrying costs including, but not limited to, mortgage debt service, insurance, real estate taxes, maintenance fees and management fees) that he owned individually or by and through limited liability companies that he owned in whole or in part.

19. Dwek utilized an overwhelming majority of the proceeds that he received from new Investors, Unsecured Lenders and Wrap Mortgagees to repay previous Investors their original investments plus significant fictitious profits.

20. In many instances, Dwek did not sign any document in favor of Investors evidencing their investments, their promised returns or the date of the promised returns, and did not provide specific information as to how the funds were utilized in order to obtain the fictitious profits.

21. In many instances, Investors received their principal investments and significant fictitious profits within months of their investments. Some of the Investors received fictitious profits of between 20% and 50% annualized, at the expense of subsequent Investors, Unsecured Creditors and Wrap Mortgagees.

22. Dwek was able to raise money from new Investors by delivering false profits to earlier Investors and creating an illusion that he was a successful, philanthropic real estate mogul who delivered incomparable investment returns.

23. At all times relevant, in order to create the perception that he was a philanthropist, Dwek donated millions of dollars of fraudulently obtained funds to religious organizations.

24. At all times relevant, Dwek orchestrated a massive "Ponzi" scheme wherein he would utilize funds to repay Investors and carry the enterprise until it all collapsed in April 2006.

C. SEM's Fraudulent Transfers of Funds to the Ponzi Participant

25. On information and belief, Dwek, through SEM, made one or more fraudulent transfers of funds obtained through the Ponzi scheme to the Ponzi Participant during the period between February 10, 2003, and February 9, 2007. The total of the payments by SEM to the Ponzi Participant during that period amounted to at least Four Million Two Hundred Thousand ($4,200,000) Dollars (the “Avoidable Transfer”). At this time, Plaintiff lacks sufficient information to specify the total amount of money and other property that comprises all of the Avoidable Transfers. Plaintiff will seek leave to amend this Complaint when he obtains, through discovery, such additional information concerning the money and property that Dwek and/or SEM transferred to or for the benefit of the Ponzi Participant.

26. Although the Trustee lacks sufficient information to determine the total amount of money and property which constituted the Avoidable Transfer, the Avoidable Transfer included at a minimum the following transfers by Dwek through SEM to the Ponzi Participant made through SEM’s PNC Bank Account, 80-1659-7311:

DATE	AMOUNT	MANNER OF PAYMENT
9/22/2005	$1,590,000	Wire Transfer
9/30/2005	$1,600,000	Wire Transfer
9/28/2005	$1,010,000	Wire Transfer

27. During the relevant time period, the Ponzi Participant invested sums with Dwek through SEM, and received the Avoidable Transfer of $4,200,000.

28. The Ponzi Participant is a very successful business person and a sophisticated investor.

29. The Ponzi Participant has experience purchasing and selling commercial and residential real estate.

30. On information and belief, the Ponzi Participant conducted virtually no due diligence in connection with any investment with Dwek.

31. The Ponzi Participant did not request appraisals for any of the real estate that may have been the alleged subject of an investment.

32. The Ponzi Participant did not contact any closing attorney.
33. The Ponzi Participant did not attend any closings in connection with any real estate that may have been the alleged subject of an investment.
34. The Ponzi Participant did not receive a closing statement for the purchase and sale of any property.
35. The Ponzi Participant did not contact any alleged seller or buyer of any property that may have been the alleged subject of an investment.
36. The Ponzi Participant did not independently order any title report for any property that may have been the alleged subject of an investment.
37. The Ponzi Participant did not retain independent counsel in connection with any investment with Dwek.
38. On information and belief, the Ponzi Participant did not receive an IRS Form 1099 for any investment made with Dwek.
39. Had the Ponzi Participant conducted any form of due diligence prior to investing, the Ponzi Participant would have ascertained that a fraud was being perpetrated.
40. The Ponzi Participant knew or should have known that Dwek was not using funds advanced by the Ponzi Participant for the purchase and sale of real properties.
41. The Ponzi Participant was eager to profit in the extraordinarily large false profits promised by Dwek, and ignored all signs that would have provided notice that the Avoidable Transfer was fraudulent.
42. Notwithstanding the lack of documentation, the Ponzi Participant made the investment with Dwek and received the Avoidable Transfer.

43. On information and belief, the Ponzi Participant knew or should have known that Dwek had been engaged in a “Ponzi” scheme.

44. The Ponzi Participant, among others, enabled Dwek to continue the Ponzi scheme and was a direct participant in that scheme without regard to its effect on third parties.

45. As a result of the Ponzi Participant’s receipt of the Avoidable Transfer, the Ponzi Participant received a benefit that was denied to other Investors.
